

“Arise, Press on...”

During the funeral service for Aunt Ida, Dr. Paul Brand said “I have been asking myself, 'what would Aunt Ida wish me to say on this occasion?'” I am sure she would ask us to arise, press on and cross our Jordans.” *

He did not say just Jordan, but clearly expressed in the plural. This is what inspires CMC to be involved in mission initiatives across our nation.

With such a heritage and focus, mission office was established in 2007 to go beyond the physical boundaries of CMC. It became a department in 2017 and continues to be part of the Directorate.

Missions Department at CMC exists to encourage, support and handhold mission hospitals as witness to the healing ministry of Jesus Christ.

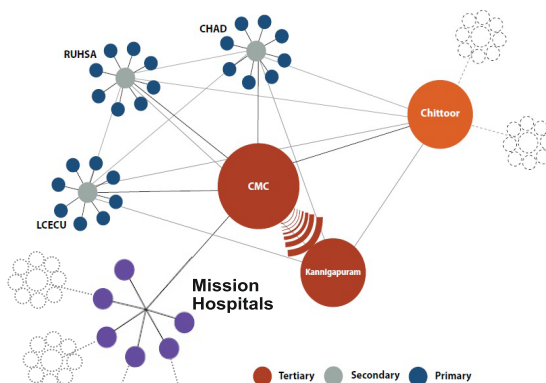

How?

- Tailor-made trainings for all levels of staff from mission hospitals can be arranged if adequate time is given. (For all other formal courses look for announcements).
- To assess mission hospitals and work along to support in strategic planning including streamlining of essential systems.
- Support in areas of governance.
- CMC could support with technical manpower for a short time, provided the requests are made well in advance and the concerned department here has hands to spare.
- Work towards developing hubs in few regions that could in turn support other hospitals.

- Mission hospitals referring patients and staff to CMC can contact mission desk.
- News and highlights from mission hospitals can be added to the CMC Newline.

A growing relationship with mission hospitals

- Condemned but reusable equipment can be transferred to mission hospitals, at the risk and responsibility of the receiving hospitals.
- Connect mission hospitals with various departments to carry out research in relevant areas.
- Support in strengthening, reviving, restoring and rebuilding mission hospitals.
